Bastrop County Collaborative for Housing + Health (BCCHH) to host Community Workshops on Affordable Housing on August 23, 26, and 27

The Bastrop County Collaborative for Housing + Health invites county residents to attend an interactive workshop to help design what healthy, safe, and affordable housing could look like in Bastrop County. At these workshops, residents will work alongside members of the BCCHH, architects, and project managers to co-create a vision for affordable housing as a pathway to better health for all. All are welcome and Spanish translation will be available.

About Us:

Bastrop County Collaborative for Housing + Health (BCCHH) exists to engage Bastrop County residents in designing solutions and policies to encourage the development of more safe, affordable housing as a pathway to a healthier county for all. The Collaborative was established through a grant from St. David's Foundation in January 2025. BCCHH is led by Bastrop County Public Health Department, and includes leadership from Bastrop County, the City of Elgin, the City of Smithville, and the City of Bastrop, and thirteen nonprofit organizations that serve Bastrop County residents. For more information about BCCHH contact the project coordinator Amy Mills at amy.mills@co.bastrop.tx.us
